Welcome to MedicusNexus

The Pharma industry is renowned for its many highly skilled experts – and you are most likely one of them.

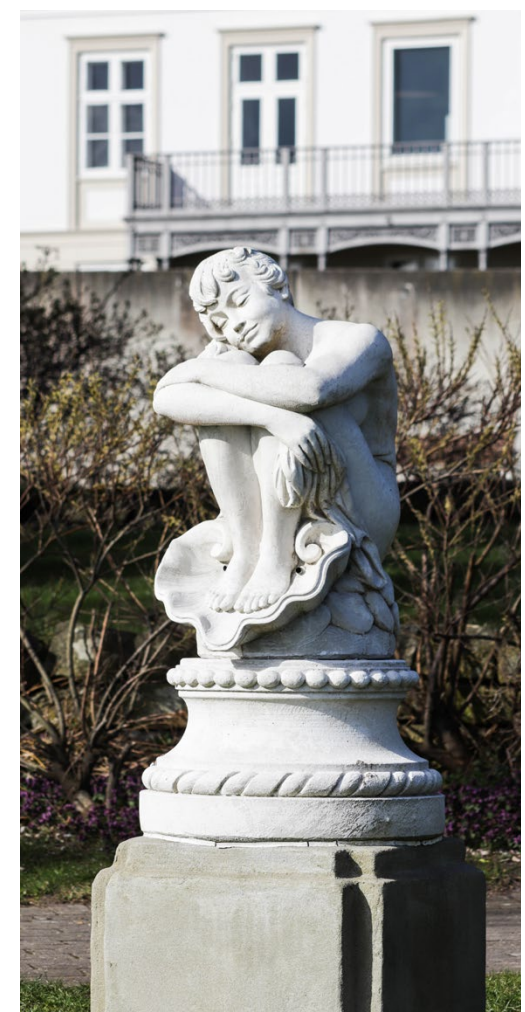

Being a Subject Matter Expert within a specific area of expertise often calls for professional sparring. MedicusNexus is an international forum offering you just that, in a peer network with skilled experts from other Pharma companies.

Through our unique concept of confidential One2One meetings, you can share ideas, innovate, and get inspired. Additionally, we provide access to educational programs and conferences on relevant topics.

We build new professional relations between Subject Matter Experts and create the framework for dialogue and development so you can grow – personally and professionally.

All our activities are digital, which is both convenient and climate-friendly.

MedicusNexus is all about creating and developing talents in the Pharma industry and the way we work is rooted in the ambition to challenge how relations are built and nurtured.

Being part of MedicusNexus

At MedicusNexus, we welcome both talents and experts from a wide range of areas in the Pharma industry – e.g., regulatory, clinical, marketing, access, medical, and supply.

External sparring and inspiration are relevant and often necessary to highly skilled experts searching for the latest trends, know-how, and perhaps a fresh perspective on everyday problems and industry issues.

MedicusNexus allows participants to challenge and be challenged to gain broader insights from peers in different organizations and countries. This can kick-start a positive chain of events and create international opportunities or change the course of your career as a Subject Matter Expert.

Being a part of MedicusNexus only requires an interest in building new relations, an ambition to grow, and a willingness to spend a couple of virtual hours meeting like-minded, skilled experts.

Professional networking has proven valuable for top leaders, and at MedicusNexus, we believe that solid professional relations are just as beneficial for Subject Matter Experts in Pharma.

One2One

Our concept is built around One2One meetings between you and carefully selected participants. Based on area of expertise, competencies, goals, and interests, we match sparring partners and thereby open the door to new high-quality professional relations.

All meetings are confidential and offer the unique opportunity to discuss matters within a specific area, share ideas, or discuss the Pharma industry from a broader perspective.

The One2One meetings will pave new ways of operating adaptable to your daily work and contribute to your development as a Subject Matter Expert.

You are invited to several different One2One meetings each year. Every meeting is evaluated to ensure that you meet the participants who contribute most to your development and need for sparring.

All meetings are online and, therefore, easy to attend cross-border.

BrainBoost

New inspiration is essential to your personal and professional development. That is why MedicusNexus also offers a series of conferences that, in just two hours, introduce you to current and relevant topics.

We call them BrainBoosts and invite experienced keynote speakers to keep you updated and inspired. Topics are related to the Pharma industry and will e.g., include sustainability, digitization, and futurology – often with a twist that challenges your usual way of thinking.

All BrainBoosts are virtual, in English, and with the opportunity to ask questions to the keynote speaker. They are international profiles, and to meet them often means flying and travel expenses, but our digital conferences bring their presentation within easy reach.

Being a part of MedicusNexus, you will also be invited to BrainBoosts at ConsilioNexus – in case these are virtual and in English. That means even more inspiration and new knowledge on a wide range of subjects.

Mini-MBA and Executive Mini-MBA

We offer members of MedicusNexus a unique possibility to accelerate their personal and organizational growth through a fast-track Mini-MBA and Executive Mini-MBA from Harvard Square.

This program is the right choice for you if you are an ambitious Subject Matter Expert interested in getting a better understanding of the value chain and focusing on personal development.

The program is online only and organized into a number of manageable courses, which gives you insight into the most important subjects in Business Administration, such as management, marketing and sales, HR, and personal development.

The mini-MBA takes a year to complete, and if you want to, you can continue by taking the Executive Mini-MBA, which takes an additional year.

This program is offered in collaboration with Leaders Excellence, Harvard Square, located in one of the United States' most prominent study environments. It is a part of a unique academic network.
